The Voice Of Technical

The Voice of school life was the excited shouts of energetic students cheering the teams to victory. The slamming of locker doors, laughter, and shuffling in the hall are characteristic sounds of Tech. Coronation brings a suspenseful silence, while bus trips to away contests bring a seemingly everlasting victory chant.

The Voice of the administration and faculty guided the students through the school year. The faculty advised and educated the students, while the administration superintended and set limitations for the students. Clarifying knowledge and increasing understanding was a task accomplished by the teachers.

High School

The Voice of the seniors characterized what lay ahead. Anticipation of leaving for college or beginning a new job filled the minds of the seniors. With their new independence, many seniors felt uncertainity, while others felt fear. Still others were filled with a satisfied joy of completing a meaningful phase of their lives.

The Voice of the underclassmen played an important role in the school year. The care-free juniors began to realize what Tech means and became involved. Wandering alone and lost, the sophomores felt insignificant and un-attached, but soon grew and matured and were able to capture the meaning of Tech.

The Voice of school life echoed the many phases of activities and events at Tech. One phase of school life involved the everyday routine of the students. Students arriving at school early to get a spot in the parking lot and music pouring from the jute box were characteristic activities and sounds before school began.

In another phase, athletic contests brought the elated cries of victory and school spirit. Hammering and sawing noises emanated from the shop areas as floats were prepared for the homecoming parade. Coronation brought a suspenseful silence and then cheering from an exuberant student body.

A Golden Dream Fulfilled For '69 Tech Royalty

A radiant Queen Kateri reigned over the 1969 Tech homecoming activities. Kateri has been a very active member of Tech's student body in the past three years. She has participated in Student Council, Mixed Chorus, Aquadettes, Tigerettes, Drama, and National Honor Society. Sewing, swimming, dancing and music are among her many hobbies.

The Queen's Court included Debbie Gustafson, Michelle Roos, Karel Schmit, and Kathy Niss. All four girls have been very active in extra curricular activities. Debbie was a flag twirler, Michelle was a Tigerette, Karel and Kathy were Student Council members.

The Queen and her attendents were the center of attention at many of the homecoming activities, including the parade, the halftime ceremonies on the football field, and the after-game dance in the Golden Galaxy Room.

50th Homecoming Celebrated

Fifty years of homecomings were climaxed at Tech in the theme "Golden Fiftieth." General chairman of the event, Barb Hopfner, spent many anxious hours coordinating the efforts of the many planning committees.

"The Most Desirable Male" contest, won by Chuck Grell, challenged the homecoming spirit of Tech boys. Carla Haroldson took top honors in the "Why I Would Like to Participate in the 50th Homecoming" essay contest.

Coronation of Queen Kateri highlighted the Thursday evening activities. The Cure of Ares provided entertainment for the dance that followed the ceremony.

"Skunk Austin" was the theme of the winning senior float, however, it was not thoroughly carried out when Austin outscored Tech, 30 to 16.

The alumni tea and homecoming dance, with "Choir Crystal," brought the 1969 Homecoming to a climax.

Fashions Promoted Individualism

Fashion for '70 promoted freedom for the individual. Letting go of the traditional and inventing the radical; be it liberal or "avant-garde" seemed to characterize the taste in fashion. The dress code had ceased to exist. Girls, for the first time in Tech's history, were seen everywhere wearing slacks. Extras such as beads, belts, hats, and leather attire, added an air of individuality to every outfit. To change the monotony of everyday hair styles, wigs and wiglets made the scene. The privilege of dressing to match every mood made fashion for '70 a very expressive and individual thing.

The 1970 senior class has a choice of two ring styles in different sizes to match tastes of individual.

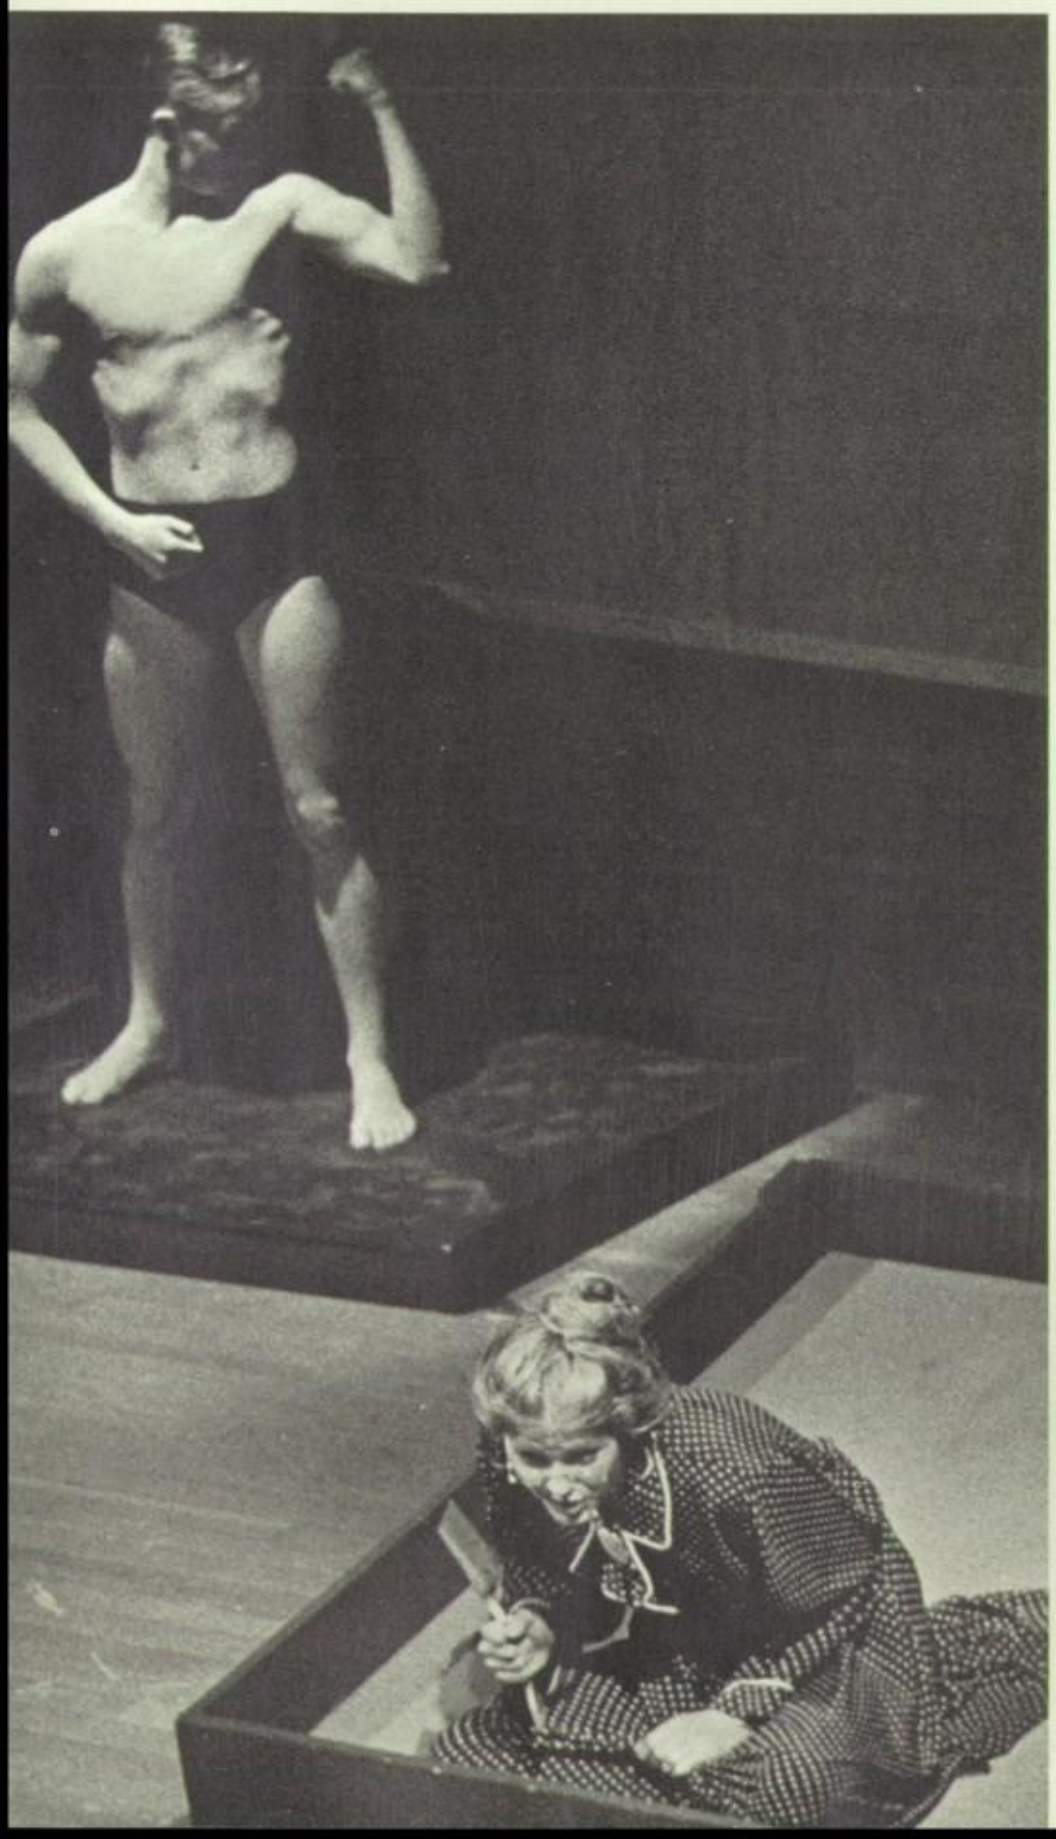
Drama Class Presented Three One-Act Plays

The drama class, directed by Mr. Huntley, presented three one-act plays. "The Sandbox," was the melancholy and unreal story about the death of Grandma. Mommy and Daddy took Grandma to the beach and laid her in a sandbox to die. As they waited, Grandma talked to a young man and complemented a girl playing her clarinet nearby. The play ended with the unemotional death of Grandma as she talked with the "angel of death."

Grandma (B. Severson) bangs on the sandbox as a young man (R. Carlson) flexes his muscles nearby.



Mommy (B. Teske) tells the young clarinetist (S. Winkelman) that the music must be softer.

The Angel of Death (R. Carlson) says goodbye to Grandma (B. Severson) before she dies.

Delacroix (J. Adams) watches Mrs. Warner (S. Winkelman) return after drawing her ballot.

J. Walker, a member of the audience, draws from the lottery box held by Joe (R. Carlson).

Students Experimented In Avant-garde Theater

"The Lottery" is a strange story about a small town tradition. Throughout the play the audience must guess the purpose for the lottery. The surprise ending comes when the reason for the drawing is revealed — to stone an innocent person to death.

"The Orchestra" was a good example of the "new theater". It was a character study of people in a preposterous situation. The play had no plot and little physical action, but the emotions and reactions of the characters were very interesting to observe.

K. Krauel, C. Graft and P. Felix, as members of "The Orchestra", argue between numbers.

Will's parents (K. Schmit and R. Lindstrom) talk to Bruce (D. Beach) about their son's adjustment to school.

Polly (J. Persen) tries to convince Melinda (S. Payne) to give up her role in the class play.

"Teach Me How To Cry"

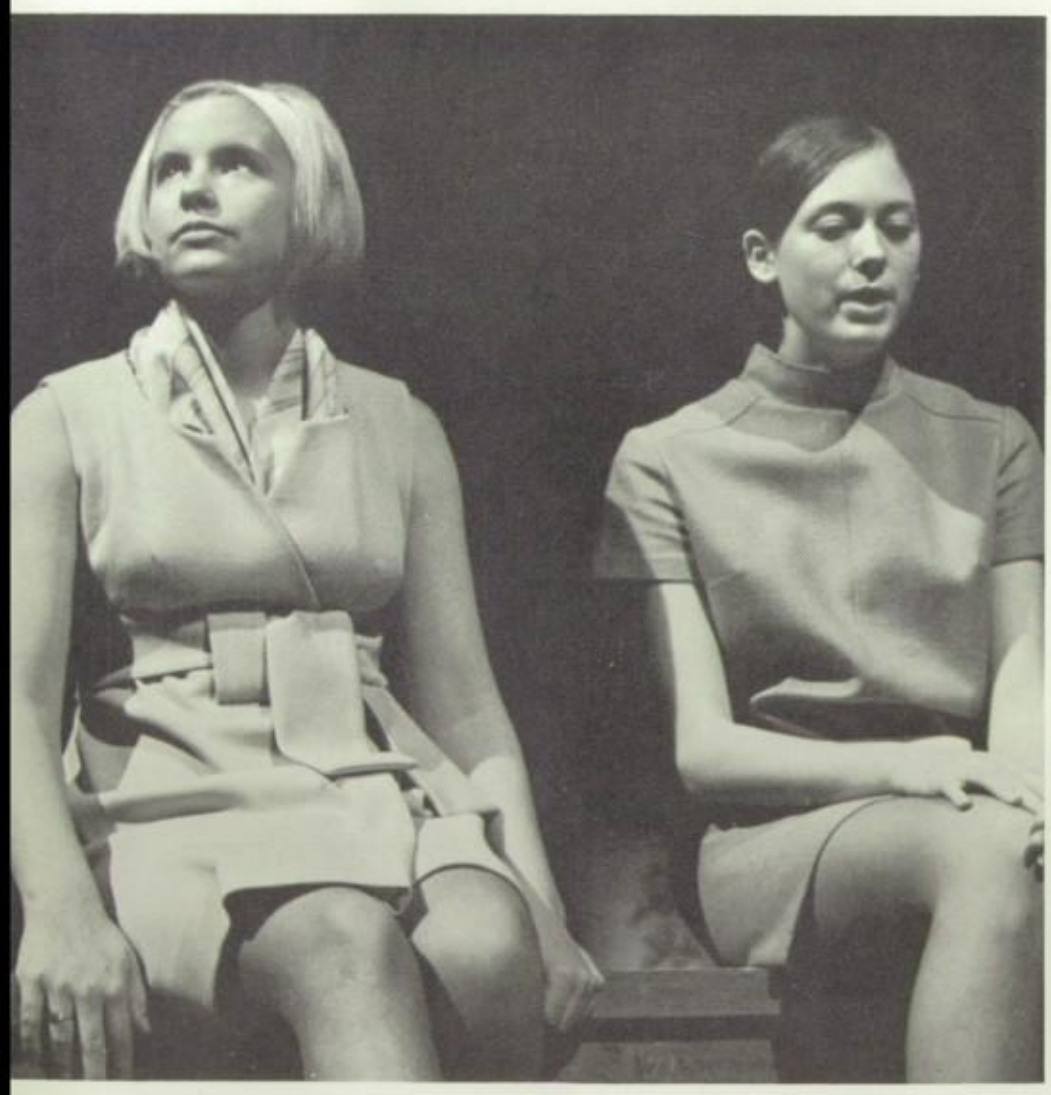
The fall play, "Teach Me How To Cry," was the story of two young people in love. Melinda Grant (S. Payne) yearning for identity, tried out for the class play where she met Will Henderson (J. Adams).

Because of Will's tenderness, Melinda gained the courage to face reality and to release her emotions. Will was involved in a fight and forced to leave town. From one another they gained enough strength to endure the departure and plan their future together.

Polly (J. Persen) and Anne (C. Pederson) gossip about happenings at the bandstand.



At the bandstand, Will (J. Adams) tries to build up Melinda's (S. Payne) confidence in herself.

Mrs. Floyd (D. Downes) rushes out as Pa (T. Dezurik) yells, "Good-bye! Next time look before you jump!"

Faculty director, Mrs. J. Herzog, applies the first stages of make-up to give T. Dezurik that aged look.

Contest Play - - "The Undercurrent"

The sub-district one act contest play, "The Undercurrent," which received a B+ rating, was directed by Mrs. J. Herzog. The play focused on the conflict between a violently strict father and his 17-year-old daughter.

The ways in which Annie (K. Kravel) sought recognition and approval were unacceptable to her society. The destruction of family and self, which resulted, was the theme of this intense drama.

A social worker, portrayed by S. Payne, comforts Ma (D. Erickson) as Pa (T. Dezurik) threatens Annie after she was accused by a neighbor, Mrs. Floyd (D. Downes), of having been arrested by the police.

Peter (C. Proell) and the Cat (B. Severson) sneak around the tree as the Bird (D. Wicks) watches.

The Duck (R. Miller) talks to children from the audience after the performance.

"Peter And The Wolf" Made Big Hit

The Children's play, "Peter and the Wolf," was presented by the drama class with accompaniment by the Tech Orchestra and narration by Mr. Paul Kinney. Both children and adults enjoyed the exciting and fun filled adventures young Peter (C. Proell) had with a bird (D. Wicks), a cat (B. Severson), a duck (R. Miller), and the wolf (T. Lane). The imaginative costumes and the delightful music made the play a tremendous success.

R. Miller, the risen Duck, stands above the guilty wolf (T. Lane).

Grandfather (D. Angell) pulls Peter (C. Proell) back to the house.

D. Vigen, K. Nelson, K. Kirby, D. Beach, B. Hoye, B. Clough, G. Laakso and G. Swanton, the full cast of Agatha Christie's "The Mouse Trap," assume their newly assigned roles during dress rehearsal for the '70 spring play.

Spring Play -- A Real "Who Done It"

"The Mouse Trap," an English murder mystery by Agatha Christie, was the spring play presented on April 30 through May 2. All of the action took place at dreary Monkswell Manor guest house where a host of strange roomers were thrown together by a fierce blizzard. A murder had been committed in London and immediately all the questionable characters were suspected of it. The surprise ending revealed the true murderer.

"But just wait, Mrs. Boyle, till I creep up behind you and you feel my hands on your throat."

". . . I'm going to kill you in a minute," the Detective Sergeant says to Mollie as Mrs. Casewell rushes in to stop him.

And The Humorous Half Had Their Say

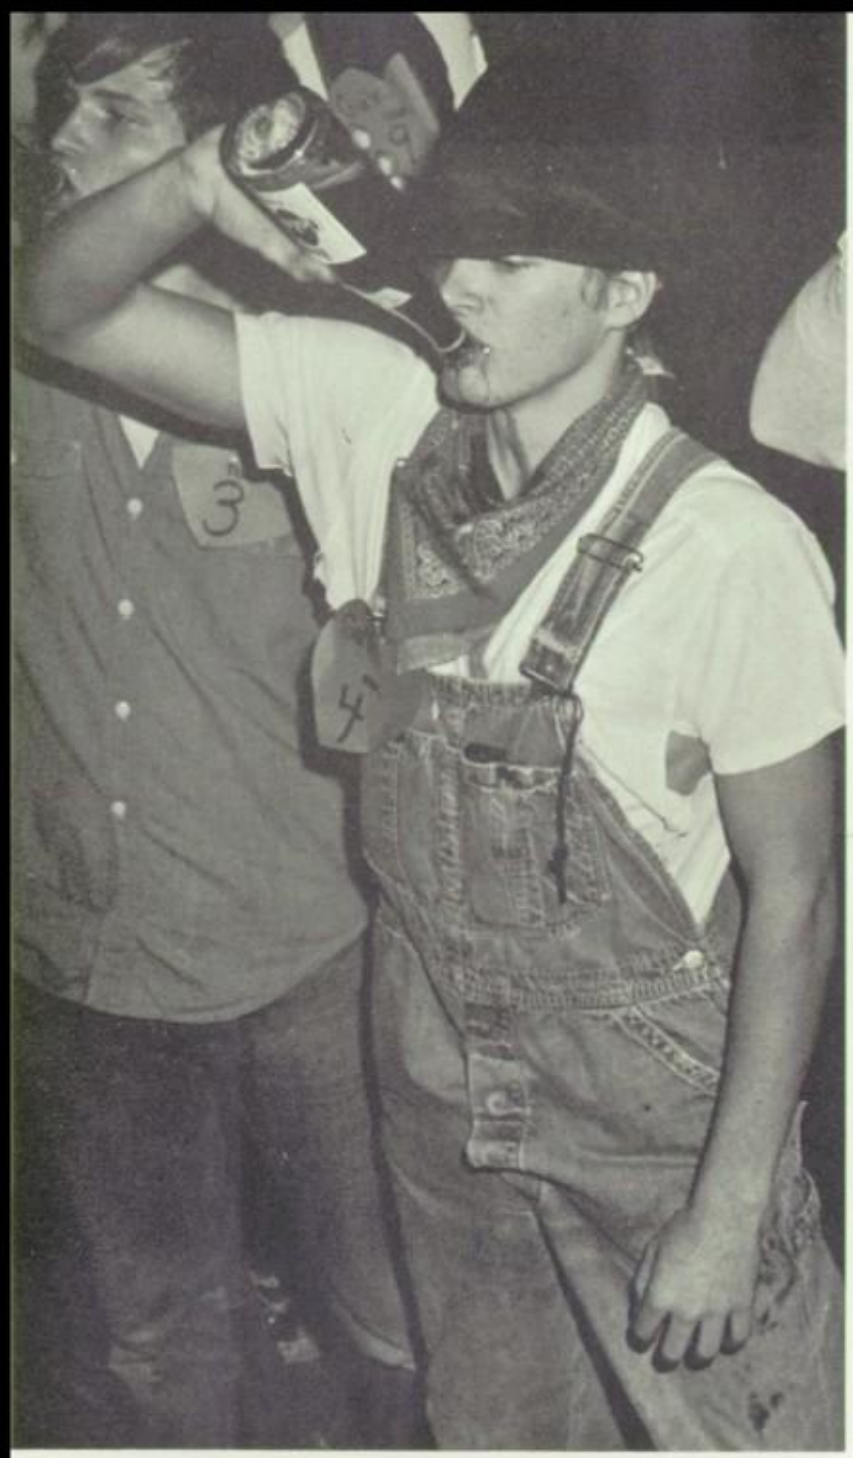
"I believe in comfort, but this is going a little too far!"

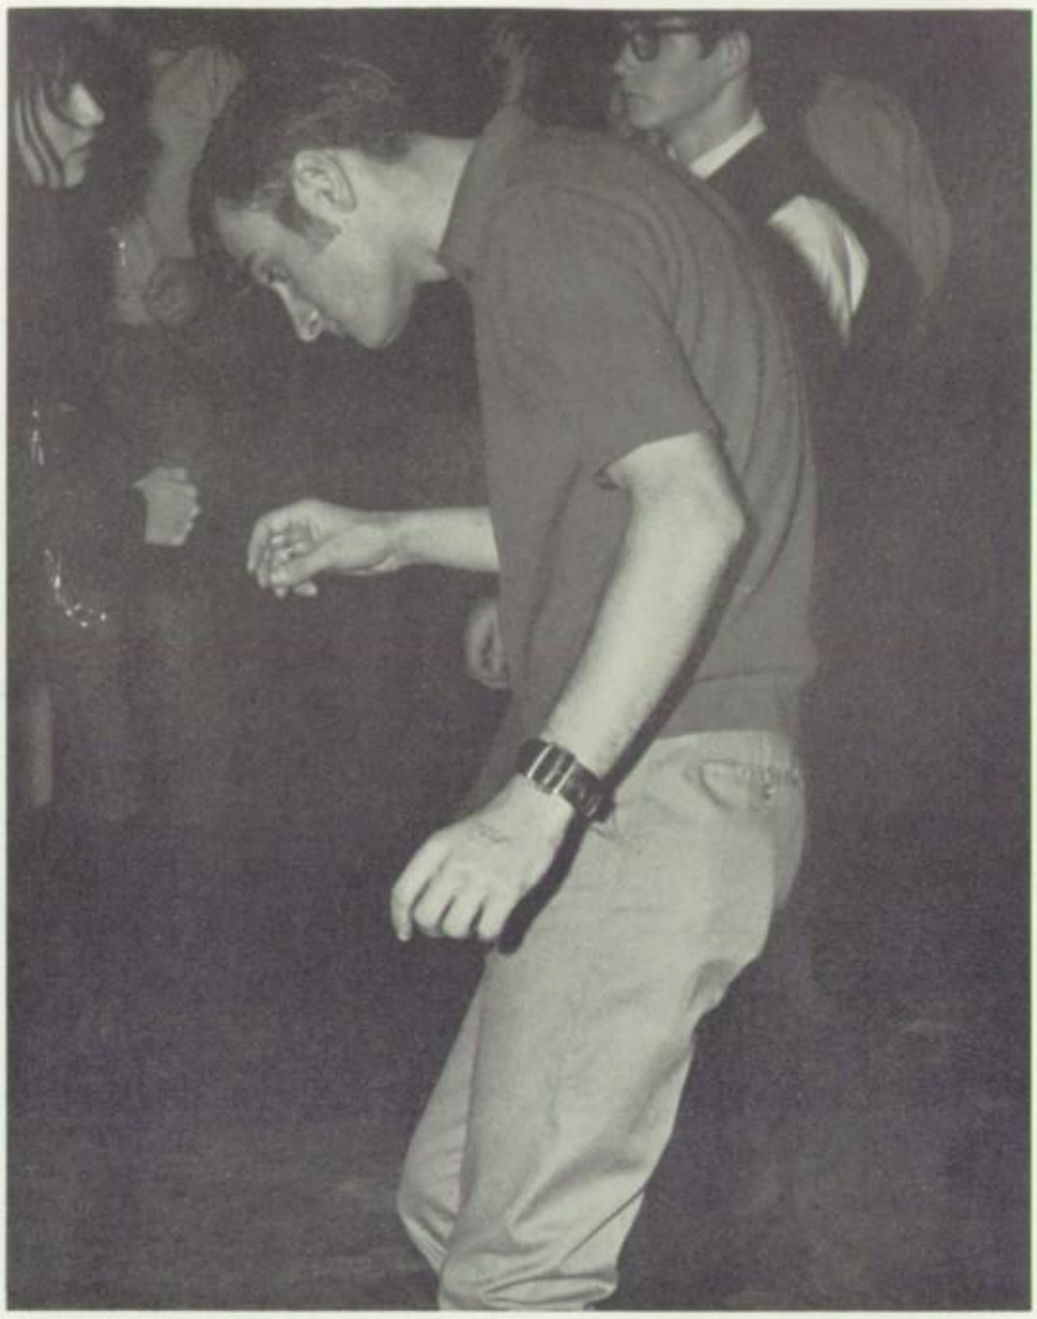
"Rah, rah—raw? And they're English teachers?"

"I told you to lay off that banana cream pie!"

"Since when is greystone co-educational?"



"Man, A'd be lost without mah bib!"



"Ah, no! There goes my sacro iliac!"

"And there was this traveling salesman. . . ."

Karel And Jim Reign Over Activities

Tradition was broken and innovation took over the 1970 All Sports Week. The coronation was held in Halenbeck Hall, during the half-time of the Tech-Albany game. Preceeding the introduction of the king and queen candidates, the Tigerettes performed to The Tijuana Brass. The candidates were nervous during the moments before last year's king and queen, Bill Trewick and Becky Sterling, crowned Queen Karel and King Jim. The All Sports Week ended with the Saturday night dance.

Sadie Hawkins Gave The Girls A Rare Chance

The Sadie Hawkins dance gave the girls a rare chance to wear the "pants". They also got a chance to catch their man and drag him off to Marryin' Sam (Mr. Wertz).

The guys had a chance to smother their sorrows in the Root Beer guzzling contest. Mark Scharenbroich, after a number of elimination contests, defeated last years champion, Darrel Hiscock, by only a few drops.

The "Angry Soul" played while everyone danced, chased, and played games like the "body twirl." The girls had to pay for it all in the end, when they took their guy out to eat after the dance.

. . . K. Sluss and M. Orth order popcorn from D. Loesch before taking in a movie.

Now what? First was the mad rush for the door — purpose: to get out of the parking lot while the going was easy. Then most Techites settled to the rather normal routine of doing almost anything that came into their heads. Some, being ambitious, went straight to work while others hurried to catch the first bus that would take them to the tranquility of home. Dances, movies, shopping, or just talking over a coke and a pizza, played a definite role in the life of the Techite. Then nightfall, which for most was a time for sleep—to renew their minds for another day of studying.

The Voice of athletics was characterized by the words of advice and guidance provided by the coaches. The athletes exchanged words of encouragement and built team spirit. A vital part of this voice was the enthusiastic cheers of the spectators who showed support of and confidence in the Tiger teams. Through mutual interests and cooperation, many victories were recorded by all the different athletic divisions.

To Be Toughest In Tech History

Head coach Don Nylund, and next-in-line Bill Frantti, considered the '69 varsity football schedule to be one of the toughest in Tech's history. The Tigers confronted the top five teams of the rugged Lake Conference, and of these they fell only to number one rated Edina in the opening game of the season, 22-7.

Tech played an outstanding game against Richfield in the second match of the grid schedule. The Richfield team was trampled by the Tigers 36-0, Tech's largest winning margin over any team. The Brainerd Warriors were the next to fall as victims of the mighty Tiger team. In a tough Homecoming joust, Austin, proving to be luckier and stronger, stopped Tech to the tune of 30-16.

The closest victory of the season came in the form of a hair-raising 22-21 edge over Bloomington-Kennedy by the Tigers. With three seconds to go, Gary Hanson fired a pass to Bill Rothstein who romped across the goal line to tie the game. After the clock had already run out, Rothstein kicked the extra point which broke the tie and won the game for the elated Tigers.

The Tigers rolled up their largest single game yardage against Bloomington-Lincoln with a whopping 334 yards. The Tigers also scored decisive victories over St. Louis Park and Anoka, but fell to the number three rated Moorhead Spuds 8-0 in a rain soaked, mud splattered season's closer. This defeat left the Tigers a state-wide ninth place rating and a 6-3 season record. The three teams handing the Tigers their losses, the Edina Hornets, the Austin Packers, and the Moorhead Spuds, all ended their seasons with no losses.

Football honors went to seniors Bill Rothstein and Keith Fahnhorst as members of WCCO radio's Team-of-the-Week. Al Bielat, Keith Fahnhorst, and Bill Rothstein were named to the Saint Cloud Times All Area Offensive Team, while Tom Backes, Bill Honer, Fred Honer, and Gary Hanson were named to the All Area Defensive Team.

Juniors Met Tough Competition

The Junior Varsity Squad dropped their season opener to Cathedral, but later in the season the second encounter with the Crusaders, a hard fought battle, brought the Tiger Cubs a seven to six victory.

Coaches J. Kjera and E. Roos led the J.V.'s in the development of skills and ability to prepare them for varsity duty on either Tech or Apollo High School Teams. Strenuous practice sessions later paid dividends both offensively and defensively during the J.V.'s season. The Tiger's defense had a total of twenty points scored against them while the offense snatched 124 points from their foes.

The season's finale was a split game against Cathedral with the Sophs playing the first half and the Junior squad taking over at half time. The tally at the season's end showed an impressive six wins and two losses.

Soph Tigers Proved Themselves

Coaches D. Charpentier and J. Noonan helped the sophomore Tigers develop fundamental football skills and varsity tactics. Many of the sophomore gridders were prepared to assume positions on Tech or Apollo High School teams for next year's football season. The sophomore's unlocked the door to future competition by challenging several schools in the competitive sport.

The youngsters tackled Cathedral in their initial contest of the season. Although defeated by the Crusaders, they rallied to display this experience in the games that followed. The Tiger Cub's made decisive victories over Hutchinson, Little Falls, Albany, and Melrose. The sophomore's compiled a season record of 4-3 which proved the seven games played were well worth the many hours of practice the fellows put in.

Captured 7th Place In State Meet

The 1969 Cross Country team had a very successful season under the new head coach Bruce Melin. The team started out with a strong performance in their opening meet against Staples, the first of their ten-meet schedule, and continued their efforts to finish the season with an outstanding record. Unofficial ratings had Tech ranked among the top five teams throughout the season.

Cross country meets covered courses of about three miles in length over a wide variety of terrain. The courses often included routes over golf courses, through parks, and around lakes. Competition on this type of ground required stamina and endurance that was gained through endless hours of practice. Early morning hours before school proved to be popular practice time.

The Tiger squad ran against many of the finest teams in the state during their regular season. The Tech Tigers combined their efforts to capture the District 19 Cross Country Crown, and went on to take second place in the tough Region Five competition held at Lake Nokomis.

Setting the pace for the squad was Captain Jim Pelarske who broke many meet records in regular season competition, District 19, and in the state. Jim ran the three mile course in 15:06 in the state cross country meet, setting a new record. As a result, Pelarske received the State Cross Country Crown for his individual performance. The top seven runners on the Tech squad competed against a field of many outstanding teams in the state meet, but brought home seventh place.

New Style Game Rewards

The 69-70 varsity basketball season found the Tiger squad with a new head coach, Mr. A. Andreotti. Andreotti's team saw plenty of action playing against many tough competitors in completing a successful 14-4 season.

Co-Captains Jeff Thayer and Dave Thome were among the eight lettermen returning to the Tiger lineup. The Tigers also acquired senior Tom Huston, an experienced ball-handler from Holdingford High School.

Tech faced many tough Lake Conference teams during their regular schedule. The Tech-Robbinsdale Cooper game was one of the biggest wins of the season. Tech's tough man-to-man defense against the Hawks paid off in the form of a 65-51 upset victory for the Tigers.

District 19 competition found the Tigers once again meeting the tough Albany Huskies vying for the championship title of the tournament. The Tigers fell prey to the Huskies in a disappointing 73-52 defeat.

Tiger scorers were led by Dave Thome who tallied 355 points and 259 rebounds. Tom Huston compiled 333 points for the season. Huston and Thome were both named to WCCO's Team of the Week for their performances during the year.

S. Baker gets a two point drive knocked away.

The Junior Varsity basketball squad, coached by Mr. J. Anhorn, was composed of juniors and seniors. Many of the junior varsity members played part of the season with the squad, then moved up to prominent varsity positions.

The four games between Tech and Cathedral were all closely-contested matches. This made the J.V.'s 49-48 victory over Cathedral the most satisfying game of the season. The J.V. Tigers turned in their best performance of the season during their final game of their schedule against Royalton. Playing short-handed because of illness and absences, the Junior Varsity put forth their best team effort, both offensively and defensively, hustling to a much deserved 73-57 victory.

The key to the J.V.'s formidable 9-6 season was the development of a team philosophy. The squad played their best games when they performed as a determined team.

B-Squad Tigers Developed Skills

The B-Squad basketball team, working hard under the coaching of Mr. D. Hummel, consisted exclusively of sophomore Tigers. The team practiced diligently to develop skills and an understanding of the game, concentrating on basketball fundamentals. The season was a building year for the Tigers. Coming together from rival junior high schools, the squad members blended into one team unit. Kim Linn, Chip Rice, Mark Schirber, and Steve Veenstra all worked hard and were leaders in their individual positions on the Tiger team.

The squad throttled their best team effort against the Moundsview and Alexandria teams. The Tigers hit an all time first by scoring 53 points before half-time in the Alex game. The Cards proved to be tough competition up to the last moment as the B-Squad Tigers squeaked by Alex with a 79-75 victory.

The Tigers had three District 19 champions, Al Meemken at 103 pounds, Kevin Widman at 138, and Al Bielat at 175. Meemken went on to capture third place in Region 5 and a fourth place in the State. Widman also took the Region 5 championship crown and fifth place honors in the State tourney. Tech and Sauk Rapids were neck and neck going into the finals for second place District 19 standing. Bielat defeated his man and clinched the runner-up title for the Tech grapplers. Al Zimmerman and Bielat were the only members of the twelve man squad to remain undefeated during regular season competition.

Swimmers Met Tough Opposition

Coached by Mr. M. Chopp and Mr. R. Johnson, the Tiger swimmers spent many hours practicing for competition against such powerhouse teams as St. Paul Murray, Edina, Hopkins, and Rochester Mayo. The long hours paid-off as many Tech records were toppled. The team led by co-captains Mark Brand and Pete Barnett, set new varsity records in diving, individual medley, and the 100 backstroke.

One of the most outstanding meets was against Virginia. With the score tied at 44-44 going into the last event, anchor man Jim Sand made a tremendous effort to come from behind to win the 400 freestyle relay and the meet by the final score of 51-44.

On Feb. 27-28, the Tech tankers went to the State Meet, held at the University of Minnesota. The Tigers took 4th in diving, 4th in 100 butterfly, 5th in the 400 freestyle relay, 5th in individual medley, and 7th in the backstroke event, finishing 10th out of 35 schools.

Gymnastics Gained In Popularity

The '69-'70 season was the third year that gymnastics has been in existence at Tech. The team was coached by J. Noonan with Gary Jenderseck, as team captain.

Gerry Primus tied for 5th and 6th place on the still rings, which earned him the honor of competing in the State Meet. John Schiemann placed 7th on the still rings and missed going to the State Meet by .5 of a point.

The girls gymnastics team consisted of 19 girls. Their advisor Mrs. Sutton supervised practices and prepared them for the four meets in which they participated. Competition was held in the areas of the balance beam, uneven parallel bars, horse, and floor exercise.

Intramural Sports Provided Non-Varsity Athletics

The intramural program provided recreational athletics for boys not involved in a varsity sport that season.

Volleyball was the fall offering during 1969. The league met two nights per week in the North gym.

The winter season offered basketball. The large number of participants enabled the formation of two leagues using both gyms. Bill Rothstein's team won the play-off championships.

An intramural team was chosen from players in the tournament games. The faculty All-Stars took on the intramural stars in a charity game and showed their students a few tricks.

Spring brought the intramural wrestling tournament to the sports roster. Wrestlers were chosen from Phy. Ed. classes and were either undefeated or finished high in their respective weight classes. The intramural wrestling champions were awarded gold trophies, with a certificate awarded to the runner-up in each weight class.

Tiger Cindermen Braved The Elements

Co-captain J. Pelarske hustles to break a distance record as Coach Noonan notes his time.

Beginning their workouts early in March, the Tiger cindermen often found it necessary to run indoors. When it was possible, many of the distance runners braved the cold, setting their pace through snow, rain, and mud.

The Tiger track team, defending champions of the 1969 track title, opened their 1970 season on March 24 by taking 5th place in the Early Bird Indoor Meet held at the U. of M. The first outdoor meet was April 11th at St. Louis Park.

Tiger coaches, Mr. B. Melin, Mr. J. Noonan, Mr. D. Hummel and co-captains Gary Hanson and Jim Pelarske led the squad which included 21 lettermen. Hanson was the 1969 State Pole Vault Champion and Pelarske held the honor of 1969 State Cross Country Champion.

Baseball Season Opened With Shut-out

The Tigers had a 16-game schedule. District 19 and Region 5 competition came in late May and early June. The baseball team had five returning lettermen from which to build a team. They were Gary Jenderseck, Dave Angell, Jerry Lehner, Jeff Thayer, and Jim Walker. The team members practiced many hours with their strength being felt in pitching and catching.

This was the first complete season for the Junior Varsity's baseball team. In an attempt to keep a larger number of players in shape, the J.V.'s competed in a regular season schedule. This meant that next year both schools would have a nucleus of experienced players.

Coaches P. Dolan and A. Andreotti held the responsibility of coaching the A-Squad and J.V. baseball teams.

Frigid Air, Wind Hindered Practices

Coach M. Doane built his team around a nucleus of five returning lettermen. Cold windy weather confined the net squad to the gyms for most of the early practices.

The Tigers opened their 21 match season by hosting Little Falls. An indoor match at Brainerd and a match against St. John's completed the first week of competition for the eager racketmen. The three doubles teams of S. Woodward and T. Murn, P. Matter and P. Doane, and J. Schwanberg and G. Helgeson practiced intensely to prepare for the Bloomington Doubles tourney.

A-Squad Cheerleaders

The ten Tech A-Squad cheerleaders were one of the major forces behind the school spirit at Tech. Lending support and inspiration to the Tiger teams, the cheerleaders boosted the athletic squads to many victories. Along with the hard work and effort that was required for their performances at athletic events, the girls labored diligently on pep posters and banners, and sold buttons and pep ribbons to promote school spirit among the students.

Two members of the squad, Patty Nelson and Joan Autrey, attended a cheerleading camp which was held at Bemidji, during the summer. They returned with many new ideas for the rest of the squad to consider. In October, the entire squad attended a cheerleading clinic held at Orono. The cheerleaders purchased new orange uniforms and new orange and black sweaters, thus adding a new look to the squad. Mrs. M. Stark was the advisor of the group.

The B-squad cheerleaders led the enthusiastic Junior Varsity athletic fans in supporting their teams. These pep-promoters were four sophomores, Dana Butkowski, Chris Fuchs, Mary Sell, Captain Perry Daly, and junior, Doris Dittberner. The squad practiced every Wednesday night after school to improve the group's abilities and to learn new cheers. The members of the team were chosen in the fall of the school year by the A-squad cheerleaders on the basis of co-ordination, ability, and pep. Their advisor was Mrs. Stark.

GAA Promoted Sportsmanship

GAA was an organization of girls who enjoyed participating in athletic activities. The girls met every Thursday night in the south gym. Fun, enjoyment, and leadership were stressed at all meetings. GAA activities included: broom hockey, speed-away, basketball, gymnastics, bowling, softball, and track.

The girls held a formal initiation of members at the Christmas party for the Girls' Athletic Association members. The group was led by president, Teri Henneman and vice-president, Pam Thompson. The activities of the group were under the direction of Mrs. L. Scherfenberg.

Senior Manager, C. Vinje, and R. Rieder, Junior Manager, make plans for water show.

Aquadettes was composed of 22 girls from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Try-outs were held early in the school year. The girls were elected on their swimming abilities and that of precision and coordination.

C. Vinje was senior manager and R. Rieder was elected junior manager for the 1969-70 swimming season. Miss D. Niebor was active advisor for the group.

The theme for the annual water show was "Circus". The girls worked together to compose the numbers.

The Voice of organizations at Tech encouraged students to utilize personal abilities and to develop common interests. Students were able to voice their ideas through student government and student publications. The opportunity to develop leadership qualities in a favored area was also available to the students. The purpose of the organizations varied from increasing school spirit to developing a pleasing musical group. These extra-curricular activities provided a better atmosphere at Tech through activities, projects, and services.

The Student Council represented the student body and worked with the administration. Council sponsored dances, buses to games, revised council elections, held class officer elections, were responsible for homecoming activities, and sold concessions at home athletic contests. Orientation information was provided for the new students at Tech by the Council. Some of the major accomplishments of the council were the revision of the dress code and the pink slip system.

Tech Staff Gained Writing Experience

Miss Jewell Puttin was the new advisor of "The Tech", the school newspaper. Chosen as Editor-in-chief for the 1969-1970 school year was Diane Doll. Eleven section editors were also selected last fall.

Being on the newspaper staff provided the members with experience in writing and enabled them to practice good journalism techniques. The members were given the responsibility of meeting deadlines for the paper.

"The Tech" was published by a staff of 38 members. The staff included juniors and seniors. Journalism class members also had an opportunity to gain experience reporting for the paper. Basic qualification for membership on staff was an active interest in journalism.

Techoes Edited Anniversary Booklet

Techoes staff edited a booklet for Tech's 50th Homecoming at the beginning of the year. After the booklet the staff worked on the yearbook which included writing copy, composing layouts and taking and printing pictures.

In the fall eleven editors were chosen for the various sections of the yearbook. The positions were given to seniors who had previous experience on the yearbook staff or any of the other high school publications. The junior members were made assistant editors and worked under the editors in order to obtain necessary experience for the positions they will assume next year. The Editor-in-Chief was Chris Kennedy whose duties were to check all final copy and all final layouts for any mistakes before submitting it to the advisor, Mr. Haug, for final approval. The other two faculty advisors were Miss Zins, Copy Advisor, and Mr. Otto, Business Advisor.

Language Clubs Studied Cultures Of Foreign Countries

The goal of Tech's foreign language clubs was to obtain cultural enrichment of foreign countries. The clubs were open to all interested students to enable them to gain greater understanding and knowledge of various countries.

The French Club increased interests in the language and customs by attending a play in Minneapolis and by listening to guest speakers who had recently toured France.

The Spanish and French Clubs held a combined Christmas banquet at the home of Kris Ritchie. The foods served were made from favorite French and Spanish recipes.

The German Club built their own float for the homecoming parade while the French and Spanish Clubs combined their resources to prepare their homecoming entry.

JAS Required Ability And Initiative

Junior Academy of Science consisted of students who had completed biology, physics, chemistry, and continued in Science Seminar. The class met during first hour every day. JAS did not hold any regular meetings and had no officers since it did not function as a club.

The purpose of this organization was to encourage and find talent in every area of science. Each student was required to complete and submit a research project. Their projects were then entered in the Regional Fair Research Paper Contest held at St. Cloud State. Projects awarded a purple ribbon advanced to State competition.

Debate, Declamation Improved Students Speaking Abilities

The Debate topic for this year was "Resolved: Congress should prohibit unilateral U.S. military intervention in foreign countries." Tech's team debated this topic at meets in the state and also at Watertown, South Dakota.

The purpose of Declamation was to develop the student's speaking skills. Declamation included topics such as original and memorized oratory, interpretive reading, discussion, story telling and extemporaneous reading.

Miss M. Williams and Mr. W. Bradbury, English teachers at Tech, were co-advisors of the organizations.

Chess, Art Clubs Challenged Abilities

Art Club was organized in the fall by its advisor, Mr. D. Hummel. Interested students were given the opportunity to develop individual talents and explore various art media. Club projects included decorating for Sadie Hawkins, a Homecoming float and fund raising activities.

Chess Club, under the supervision of Mr. R. Kerr, met on Thursdays after school to practice and improve their chess skills. Concentration was required to play this game and to plan moves. Several members attended the State High School Chess Tournament in March.

Exchange Student Was AFS Goal

Tech's American Field Service goal this year was to raise money to sponsor an AFS student for next year. To do this, members sponsored the annual AFS talent show and sold candy bars.

The AFS Club organized various projects throughout the school year. They supported the Americans Abroad Program, which gave students an opportunity to study in a foreign country. A city-wide AFS weekend was planned by the members in cooperation with city personnel. Along with this, the club orientated the AFS student in the school and publicized the AFS program.

"Toward New Horizons" Was FHA Motto

The Future Homemakers of America was open to anyone who had at least one Home Economics course in either junior or senior high school. FHA promoted appreciation and satisfaction in the area of homemaking.

Many projects were undertaken by FHA this year. They participated in the District Convention in Albany and the State Convention in St. Paul. FHA girls were hostesses for the FFA members at a Christmas caroling party. FHA members sold cook books to enhance the condition of their treasury, and sold buttons in order to raise money for Camp Courage.

Club's Objectives -- Fellowship, Leadership

The Minnesota Office Education Association (MOEA) at Tech was mainly organized to promote professional and personal growth. It provided the forty-one members with job and leadership opportunities in office education. Tech's MOEA group participated in many activities such as the Spring Leadership Conference, the Employer-Employee Banquet, and in the business machines show.

The float made by the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) won third place in the 1969 Homecoming Parade. VICA provided the fifty members with experiences in leadership and fellowship. The officers were President; Steve Naber, Vice President; Jeri Koepp, Secretary; Paula Uberecken, and Treasurer; Bette Ness.

Through the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) members developed a respect for education in marketing and distribution. Club members participated in many contests at the Spring Leadership Conference, and sponsored a ski trip for anyone interested.

Pep Club Gave Recognition To Spirited Clubs

Pep Club's goal this year was to arouse school spirit and enthusiasm in the student body. The members worked on a variety of projects in order to achieve this. Painting signs to encourage attendance at sports events was an unending task. Members also decorated the football field for the Homecoming game and kept busy the rest of the year with button and ribbon sales.

Pep Club also tried to encourage participation in other clubs. Once a month it chose and honored a club as being outstanding in its contribution to Tech.

Miss M. Williams supervised the Jogging Club for those girls interested in the outdoor sport. The club was formed for those who wanted to improve their figure, heart, and lungs. They jogged every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday night after school for a half an hour.

Fencing Club, under the direction of Mr. K. Laumb, gave members a chance to improve their fencing skills. Senior members had the opportunity to perfect and develop skills in fencing while new members were able to learn basic techniques. The members were furnished with a foil, mask, and epee. At the club's meetings the amateur duelists tried each others newly found prowess. These duels proved to be real physical workouts.

Nadine Studer was senior manager, Dianne Cundy, junior manager, and the costume managers were Dawn Broker and Sharon Eder. To raise funds, the Tigerettes sponsored a summer car wash and sold candy bars.

Tigerettes promoted school spirit by participating in assemblies, pep fests, half time entertainment at basketball and football games, and homecoming activities. Practices were held twice a week in order to improve and perfect new dance routines and techniques.

Red Cross And Library Aides Volunteered Service

A handful of students volunteered to be library aides. They gave of their time and energy to do various jobs such as checking passes, helping students use the library and finding magazines from the stacks.

Red Cross helped the needy with a variety of services. Projects during the year were programs for people in homes for the aged, collecting articles for needy people, and co-sponsoring the Charity Basketball game to finance service projects. The girls sent 200 pounds of clothing to Kentucky and 4 to 500 pounds of clothing to local charities for distribution in the area.

TNT And FSA Clubs Prepared For The Future

FSA was a new addition to the extra-curricular activities at Tech. The purpose of the organization was to explore the secretarial field through speakers and panel discussions. Friday morning donut sales were held by FSA to raise funds for the club. FSA was sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

TNT, Tech's chapter of Future Teachers of America, was formed to stimulate student interest in the teaching profession. TNT members assisted teachers and gained insight, particularly at the elementary level. The organization also contributed to the FTA Newsletter.

Ski Club Named "Club Faire du Ski"

The ski club, under the direction of Mr. Warren Bradbury, chose the name "Club Faire du Ski." The club's meetings were spent organizing trips to ski resorts in and around Minnesota. The scheduled trips included Quadna Mountain, Lutsen, Powder Ridge, and Sugar Hills.

Before the snow began to fly last fall, an early trip to the cities gave members a chance to see and hear Jean Claude Killy as he commented on skiing and on ski equipment at Dayton's auditorium.

The club's activities were financed through membership dues and by candy sales.

The Office Messengers performed a necessary service for fellow students and faculty by helping in the office. Their main duties consisted of delivering emergency messages and guidance slips, aiding the office secretaries, collecting and delivering bulletins to classrooms, and guiding visitors through Tech's halls.

The hall monitors helped to make Tech more orderly by keeping the students within limited areas during the lunch hours. There were approximately thirty volunteer workers who contributed time from study hall or their lunch period to help with this task. Mr. H. Bettendorf was faculty supervisor for hall monitors.

The group performed at the Fall, Christmas, Winter, and Spring Concerts. In April the choir traveled to Winnipeg, a trip financed by selling candy.

In addition to meeting three hours per week, weekly sectional rehearsals provided individual enrichment and strengthened group dynamics.

Girls Expressed Interest In Glee Club

Qualification for membership in the Girls Glee Club was that each member have an interest in singing and music. This club gave members training and experience in group and individual singing. The girls entertained the public at the Christmas, Winter, and Spring concerts.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. A. Dahl, also entered an ensemble which sang "How Merrily We Live," in the district contest.

This year Tech had two separate groups. The larger group consisted mostly of juniors and seniors, while the other was made up mainly of sophomores.

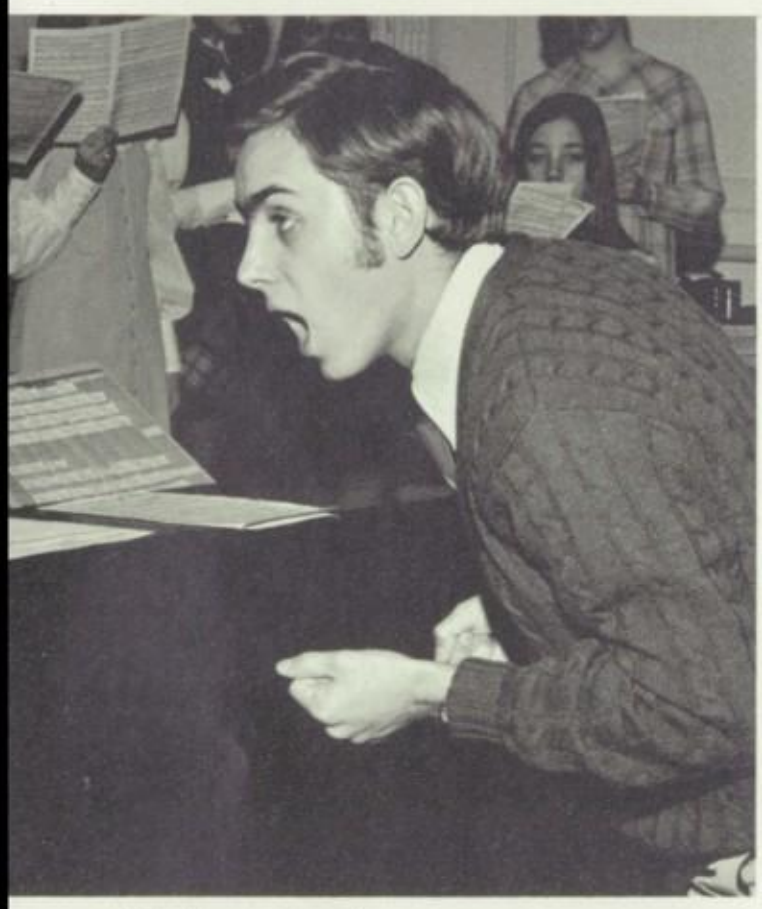
Mixed Chorus Gave Musical Outlet For Many Techites

Mixed Chorus practices opening song for the Winter Concert.

Interest in vocal music at Tech was shown by the active participation in the mixed chorus. This chorus was predominately a sophomore group.

Membership in mixed chorus was by audition for girls and open to all boys interested who had room in their schedules. The chorus used their two practice periods each week to prepare for their performances in the Christmas, Winter, and Spring concerts.



Oh, they got me!

The Voice of the faculty and administration contributed largely to the personality of Tech. The administrators set and controlled the guidelines which governed the school. The faculty worked closely with the students to help them achieve their academic and social goals throughout the school year.

Although the students did not always agree with the school policy, the basic aim of the administration was to make Tech a better learning institution.

Innovation -- School Boards Key

Mr. Kermit Eastman, Superintendent of Schools.

Superintendent Eastman was accountable for school personnel and all matters affecting them, school policy, and advising the Board of Education. Mr. Eastman was head administrator for the school district.

The Board of Education was involved in reviewing the districts needs and acquiring sites for future buildings. They were in charge of budgeting to provide equality in property assessments in order that the tax load was spread more fairly.

Assistant Superintendent Donald Holycross' primary duty was to assist Mr. Eastman with school district business. He was specifically responsible for the upkeep and remodeling of the buildings and grounds, and working with the auxiliary personnel.

The main concern of the Board of Education, Mr. Eastman, and Mr. Holycross' was the building up and improvement of the district's overall school program.

Mr. Sell Completed First Year As Tech's Principal

Mr. C. Sell, a veteran of fourteen years at Tech, completed his first year as principal in 1969-70. Previous to this Mr. Sell had served six years as assistant principal and eight years as a classroom teacher. This proved advantageous to him as he was familiar with the faculty members and the school district.

During the past school year Mr. Sell had the responsibility of effectively organizing Tech. As principal, Mr. Sell had to formulate the educational program of the students enrolled. He also assisted the North Central Accrediting Association with the procurement of records for students entering college or vocational school.

A school the size of Tech poses a problem in itself. Due to the increased enrollment at Tech, problems of hall congestion and inadequate classroom space were also added to Mr. Sell's responsibilities as principal.

Mr. Sell worked with the faculty in their planning of the remodeling to be done on the school in the 1970 summer, making the transition from a 3 year senior high school to a 4 year high school.

Mr. Charles Sell, Principal.

Mr. C. Sell reviews some of the quantities of literature which cross his desk on curriculum development.

Mr. C. Sell and Athletic Director Mr. A. Pergol exchange comments on athletic event.

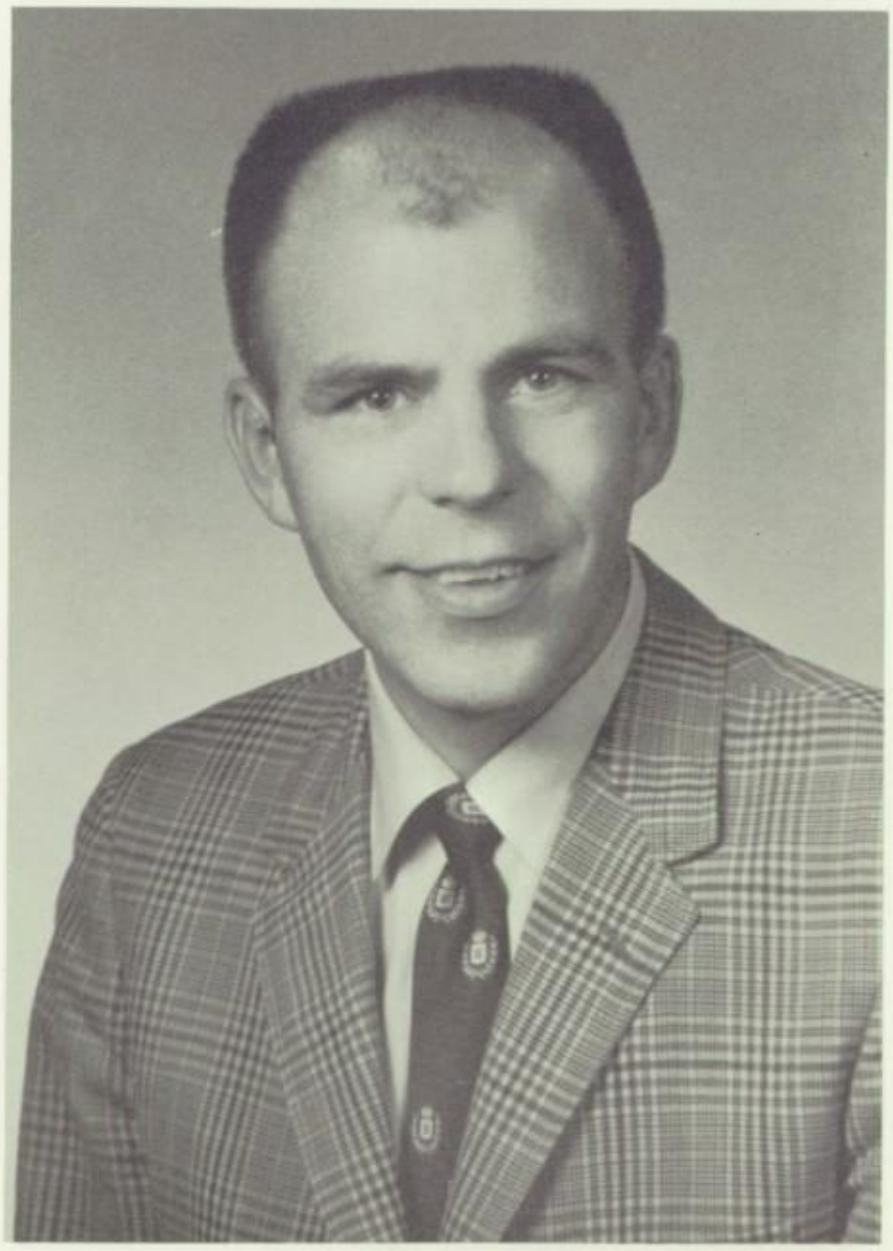
Administrators Were Challenged By Variety Of Duties

Mr. John Carlstad, Tech's new assistant principal, had the responsibility of curriculum development and instruction. Specifically, this meant attending departmental meetings, revision and improvement of course offerings, and executing teacher in-service training programs. Preparation of the master class schedule, and procurement of substitute teachers were other jobs delegated to Mr. Carlstad.

Mr. Carlstad was also challenged by the generation gap. He has found that as an adult, he had a different interpretation of school policy than the students. An example of this is the method of teaching. According to Mr. Carlstad, teaching is a two way street, with the teacher not to teach, but to help the student learn.

Mr. Donald Matakis worked with Mr. Carlstad as assistant principal. His main duties involved the attendance of students and the enforcement of the school's rules and regulations. The hiring and assigning of supervisory staff, was also under his direction. Mr. Matakis was relieved of his regular duties at Tech to begin his assignment at Apollo.

Mr. John Carlstad, Assistant Principal.



Mr. Carlstad uses magnet board to arrange class schedule.

Large Student Body Keeps Administrative Aids Very Busy

Supervision of girl's attendance was delegated to Miss Patricia Hill, Dean of Girls. Her major responsibility was to investigate attendance problems and to improve attendance patterns. Another task required of Miss Hill was setting up the official school calendar. Miss Hill served as advisor to the A.F.S. Club.

Mr. Ed Johnson, Administrative Aid, supervised boy's attendance and discipline at Tech. His responsibilities also included instruction and coordination of hall and lunchroom supervisors. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Roos served as co-advisors to the student council.

Guidance And Health Services

Tech's six counselors devoted most of their time helping students achieve social adjustments. The counselors have the same set of students every year so they can become better acquainted with the individual person. Conferences with the students were set up to make a tentative schedule for the following year. The students could make an appointment with their counselor if they had a question or problem they wanted to discuss.

Mrs. Rotnem was the coordinator of Health Services to the St. Cloud Public School System. She examined and advised students in regard to their health problems. Her responsibilities included arranging immunization clinics, vision and hearing clinics, and making home visits.

Social Studies Department Applied Inductive Reasoning

The Social Studies department employed the idea of inquiries, not using any questions, but using an inductive approach. Some classes tried to eliminate the descriptive content and use materials in which they evaluated the why of the problem and the problem itself. Different points of view were presented, neither right nor wrong, but given so the students could evaluate them.

The Social Studies department added a new Social Seminar to their curriculum. It dealt with the problems of today through a medium such as photography.

Math And Science Curriculum

One year of math was required of all students studying at Tech. This requirement could be met by taking any one of the many math offerings.

The new computers used jointly by the math and science departments have added new challenges to the classes offered. Students had the opportunity to do previously long tedious calculations on the machines in seconds.

The math department, headed by Mr. Tom Antil, has designed a math program which is based on a tracking system such that a student will not regress but always progress toward a definite goal. The tracks are for terminal, vocational, and college preparatory students.

In order to graduate, all seniors were required to have completed at least one year of science during their senior high school career.

Communication And Understanding Stressed By English Department

The objective of the English department was to help students gain more knowledge in the areas of communication and in understanding themselves and others. Classes presenting the beauty of literature and the ideas of man helped students become better judges of truth or fallacy.

The team teaching program was expanded to include more teachers. The purpose of the team was primarily to make more effective use of time and to give the students the benefits of more than one teacher's talents. This added much variety to the materials students were exposed to.

Sophomores and juniors were required to take four weeks of speech as part of their English classes, but seniors could take a full year as an elective.

Drama was available to those students wishing to explore the theater arts. Humanities, a semester class, was offered to students interested in man's ideals and arts.

Mr. Dennis Loge, chairman of the English Department, placed Mrs. Dorothy Olson in charge of the sophomore sections, Mr. Warren Bradbury junior sections, and Mr. Roland Froyen headed the senior department.

Three modern foreign languages were offered to students at Tech. The choices were French, German, and Spanish. Four years of each language were available to those who started their language as ninth graders. Conversational German was offered as a one year course to those who wanted to speak and understand the spoken language but did not plan any further courses.

Mr. Arthur Maethner, head of the language department, and the other faculty members have developed a curriculum which is relevant to modern times. Spoken and written applications of the languages helped speed the learning process.

Many opportunities were available to those students interested in vocal or instrumental music. The music department offered seven different choices varying in content and in ability requirements.

The two bands, the glee clubs, the orchestra, and the choirs combined talents to present a fall, a Christmas, and a spring concert. These concerts were open to the public and were presented outside of school hours.

General Art was added for students interested in developing their interests. Students learned about artists, art movements, and worked on creative projects. Advanced Art was made available for those students who wanted to work on creative projects of their own design.

Business Courses Prove Beneficial To Students

The Business Department had a large variety of courses that were offered in the past year. These courses prepared the students for future business opportunities and proved to be beneficial in the daily lives of the student. The courses will help the students find the right job after they finish high school.

Most of the courses were offered on the semester level. Typing was taught in two large group sessions of sixty to sixty-five students. After one semester of typing, a student had the opportunity of taking another semester. Team teaching allowed the instructors to observe and help the students develop their skill.

Consumer Education Stressed In Home Ec., Agriculture

Agriculture courses were offered to those boys who planned to farm or enter the agriculture business. The courses stressed the idea of the business aspect of agriculture. Understanding this area helped the student to become a better producer as well as a better consumer.

All of the courses offered in Home Economics were semester courses only. During the past year, field trips were taken to area home furnishing stores. The students gained practical experience in such fields as food preparation, home furnishings, clothing construction, and consumer buying. The Home Economics courses were also opened to boys who were interested in this area.

Phy Ed Required Of Underclassmen

Students attending Tech were required to complete a health unit and two years of physical education during their sophomore and junior years in high school.

The units required for sophomore girls consisted of speedaway, swimming, gymnastics, volleyball, rhythm, and their choice of tennis, archery, or track and field in the spring. A similiar choice was offered in the spring to the junior girls replacing track and field with golf. Throughout the rest of the year recreational games, swimming, gymnastics, volleyball, and bowling were taken by the junior girls.

The boys physical education program employed the color system. Using this system the boys worked up to a color corresponding to a certain level of achievement. Some of the activities which were included in the program were basketball, gymnastics, and wrestling.

Industrial Arts Added New Course: General Mechanics

Many Tech boys chose Industrial Art classes because of their practicality. The main purpose was to provide an opportunity to take raw materials and make something useful for the creator or for sale.

New to the Industrial Arts curriculum was General Mechanics. The emphasis of this course was on preparation of the students for Service Station work.

Courses covering nearly every vocation were available through the Industrial Arts Department. Mechanics, Woodworking, Synthetics, Electronics, Welding, and Drawing were a few of the classes offered to Tech students.

Mr. Gruba Retires After 48 Years

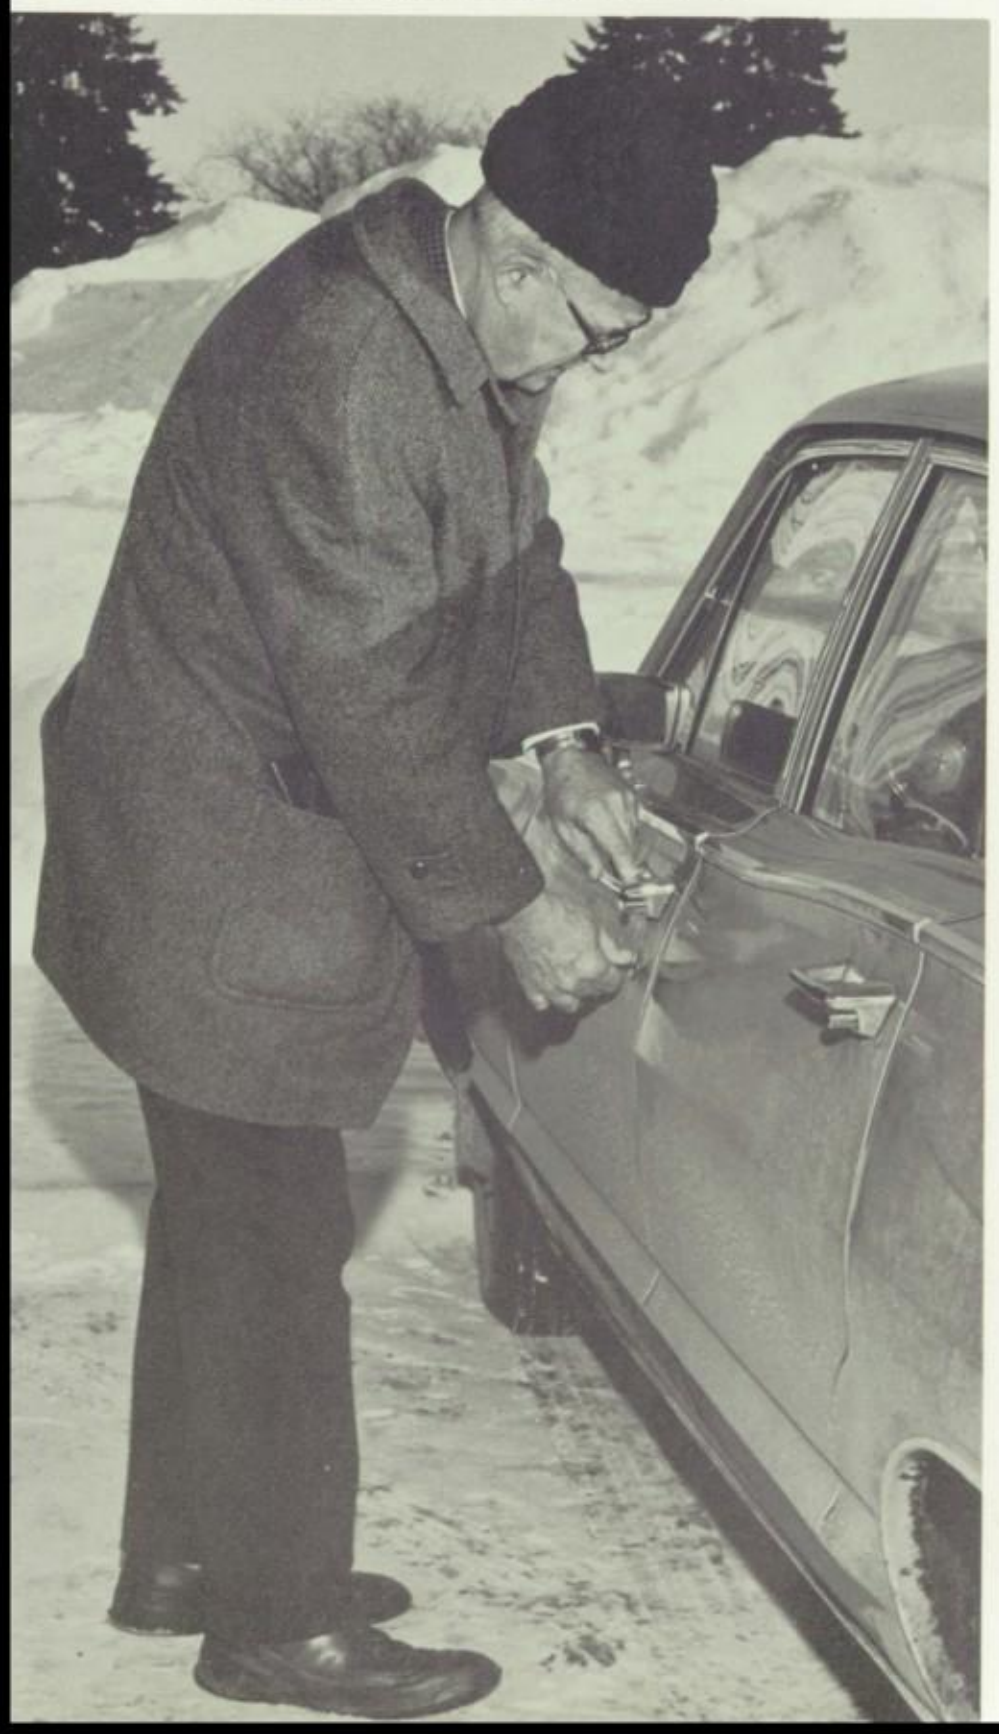
Mr. Gruba has retired after teaching for 48 years. He started teaching at a rural school in South Dakota, later in Avon, Minnesota and in 1938 he began teaching at Tech. Mr. Gruba has taught English, geography, history and Problems of Democracy.

Most of Mr. Gruba's undergraduate and graduate work was completed at St. Cloud State College from which he received his bachelor's degree.

Mr. Gruba feels that retirement is "a time to do just what you want to do without having to do it at a certain time." For him this will include reading, traveling, and working on his "various projects."

Mr. Gruba finds a time to escape from it all.



Mr. H. G. Gruba prepares lesson on current events by reading American Observer.

Mr. H. Gruba retires after 22 years on Tech faculty.

Services Provided For Students And Faculty At Tech

The secretaries had various jobs which aided in making Tech more efficient. They kept records of the teacher's budgets, duplicated bulletins and faculty communications, and reported the daily announcements. The library clerks checked and repaired books and magazines, helped students and teachers find supplementary material, and filed cards. The guidance center receptionists recorded grades and test scores and filed records of each student. They typed recommendation forms and mailed out college application forms.

The custodians kept Tech in working order. Mr. Storkamp, head custodian, directed the cleaning, washing of blackboards, painting and floor maintenance. With so much work, there were day and night shifts which also gave more security against breakins.

The engineers, headed by Mr. Hollenhorst, controlled the heating, plumbing, lights, and ventilation throughout the buildings in the school district.

The cooks prepared nourishing hot lunches for the hungry crowd at Tech. They sold milk and a variety of ice cream in both the cafeteria and cold lunch room.

The Voice of honor recognized many eminent students. Special acknowledgments were awarded to students excelling in their fields. Scholastic, journalistic, musical, and physical talents were honored by membership in special organizations. Other student's merit was rewarded with community or state recognition. Honorable mention or recognition was given to those students who went beyond the basic requirements and explored and contributed their own time. These accomplishments brought much promise into focus for the ambitious young adults.

Ability And Leadership Were Requirements For NHS

National Honor Society members were elected from the juniors and seniors who had maintained a 3.0 grade average. The faculty selected those students who had shown the qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. In previous years the selection of members was done by the students in addition to the faculty.

Although the group held no regularly scheduled meetings, they planned two inductions, one in November for seniors, and one in May for juniors and seniors. After the formal induction at which interpretations of the membership qualifications were given, the members held a reception and tea for the new initiates and their parents.

The society's officers for the 1969-1970 school year were D. Payne, President; T. Meister, Vice-President; J. Ferrario, Secretary; and J. Beaulieu, Treasurer. Mrs. Aileen Pelissier was the advisor for the organization.

Honor Groups Promote Student Leadership

Quill and Scroll was an honorary organization for those students active in journalism. Students were chosen on the basis of qualifications set by their publication. Other qualifications for membership were: the student must have been in the upper one third of his class, must be a junior or senior, and must be recommended by the advisor of the literary group. Miss Jewell Puttin was the Quill and Scroll advisor.

The members of the American Association of University Women were chosen by the senior girls. The requirement for eligibility was the plan to go on to college after high school. Mrs. Aileen Pelissier was the advisor.

The senior boys elected eight members of their class to serve as Rotarians and eight members of their class to serve as Kiwanians. The boys were chosen on the basis of their ability and leadership. They were involved with many community affairs. Meetings planned by the St. Cloud businessmen were attended by the boys.

School Spirit Inspired By Lettermen

Tech's Lettermen's Club was composed of about 60 boys from the sophomore, junior, and senior class. The club was dedicated to promoting the highest of ideals, ethics, sportsmanship and school spirit. Members of the group are athletes who have earned a letter for active participation in any of the nine varsity sports. To be a member a boy must abide by the training rules at all times. The coaches of each individual sport determine who is deserving of a letter. The lettermen's annual fund raising project was selling Tiger wall plaques. Advisor to this outstanding group of boys was Mr. D. Nylund.

Tech lettermen T. Backes and B. Rothstein comment on Tech-Albany game while other lettermen and fans observe action.

D. Huling, one of Tech's sporting athletes, tries to sell "Empty Pockets" Gerads a Tiger wall plaque.

The Voice of the Seniors played a major role at Tech as the leading class among the students. The seniors accepted the status of being the last class to graduate from Tech as one school. As the school year began to draw to a close, the seniors were busied with measuring for graduation robes and ordering announcements. The senior all-night party marked the final activity of an important phase of their lives. The seniors prepared themselves for an adult position, knowing that the near future meant choosing roles, whether it be further schooling, a permanent job, or military training.

Executive council officers: K. K. Schmidt, D. Gustafson, K. R: Schmidt, and M. Brand review last meeting minutes with advisor Mr. J. DesRochers.

Senior Executive Council Led

The senior executive council was comprised of elected representatives from each senior homeroom. The council was instrumental in resolving the many problems that confronted the senior class throughout the year.

The senior council selected three basic ring styles from which the class then chose two. They also limited the graduation robe selection to five colors. The senior class then elected navy blue as first choice.

The council sponsored float brought the seniors first place honors in the Homecoming parade. The theme of the float, "Skunk Austin," was not fully realized as the Packers overpowered Tech 30 to 16.

The class of 1970 was the largest and the last class to graduate from Tech as the one public high school in St. Cloud. Mr. Joe DesRochers was chairman of the group of faculty advisors to the senior class.

The Voice of the underclassmen was a vital part of the student body. Becoming a significant part of Tech was their main objective. With maturity came a greater understanding of the school and what it stands for. The underclassmen made a large contribution to Tech, its organizations, and its activities. They also showed enthusiastic effort in athletic and academic programs, as well as participation in many other school affairs. Grasping the meaning of Tech, the underclassmen will carry on the tradition of a great high school.

Junior Council Planned Student Activities

The Junior Executive Council handled those activities that directly related to the Junior Class. This year the Council chose the basic designs for class rings for both Tech and Apollo. They designed and built a float to be entered in the Homecoming Parade. The Council also participated in fund raising activities such as dances and concessions. They sponsored the Juke box in the cold lunch room and study hall.

The Junior Executive Council officers included President Rick Carlson, Vice President Joan Autrey, Secretary Linda Ottman and Treasurer Mary Ellen Cota.

Junior Class officers for 1969-70: J. Autrey Vice President, M. E. Cota Treasurer, R. Carlson President, and L. Ottman Secretary.

Two executive council members were elected to represent each sophomore homeroom. This council met about once a month to discuss plans and projects specifically concerning the sophomore class. They sponsored a float in the homecoming parade entitled "Devour Packer Power," which won second place, and the sophomores also helped decorate for the spring formal.

The officers that led the council were: Bruce Peterson, President; Sue Payne, Vice President; Marsha Kumpala, Secretary; and Vicky Bloch, Treasurer.
